

OUR NEW MEXICO HUB: DESERTDAWG RESORT

DesertDawg Resort is a 5-acre property located 30 miles east of Albuquerque, just minutes from I-40 and one quarter mile from Route 66. This property is home to our new transport hub, pet pantry and a dog-friendly rented studio apartment. The transport hub is permitted for 30 rescue dogs to help prepare them for transport partners and foster homes. Our Pet Food Pantry is housed in a 30' x 80' double insulated Quonset hut and distributes over 26 pallets of pet food per month, plus supplies, to over 35 rescues, shelters, and animal control officers throughout southern Colorado, New Mexico and Arizona—a service RezDawg provides as a GOODS Ambassador through Greater Good Charities.

OUR MISSION

RezDawg Rescue works with communities in the Four Corners Region of the southwest to save homeless pets through transport, fosterage, veterinary treatment and adoption. We also provide mobile spay/neuter clinics and outreach in collaboration with indigenous and rural communities. That outreach includes veterinary assistance for those who need help caring for their pets and distribution of thousands of pounds of pet food pantry items each month.

OUR BEGINNINGS

Angela Cerci started RezDawg Rescue in 2012 while living and working as a teacher at a small school on the Navajo Nation. Shortly after arriving, dogs started wandering up to her doorstep. Within a couple of months, boxes of puppies were being abandoned at her door. She picked up puppies that were getting stuck under her classroom trailer and received calls for help with local injured animals.

By no fault of their own, the local shelter was euthanizing an astounding number of the 6,000 animals coming in each year. RezDawg Rescue was founded to help face the crisis. An amazing network of supporters has grown year after year, in collaboration with local communities, making a remarkable difference for these animals.

TOGETHER WE MAKE A DIFFERENCE!

With over 250,000 dogs and cats throughout the Navajo Nation and Four Corners Region needing animal welfare services, YOUR generosity is their only lifeline. Your support is why we can continue to provide animal transport, rehabilitation, veterinary care, fostering, rehoming, the pet food pantry and mobile vet clinics for over 2,500 of these dogs and cats each year.

Thanks to the outstanding help of individual contributors, corporate sponsors, and hard-working volunteers, we are able to continue our work.

With gratitude,

Angela
